

Aurora at Kultrun World Music Festival

The Spanish jazz band Aurora plays at the 2018 Kultrun World Music Festival in Waterloo.

Aurora brings together a group of talented young musicians from the Higher Music Education School of Taller de Músics. The young cantaor Pere Martínez, along with Max Villavecchia, Joan Carles Marí, Javi Garrabella and José Manuel Álvarez undertake this new musical adventure that will travel through the most popular songs of the composer Manuel de Falla to evolve towards languages that transgress the traditional sonorities, and explore the fusion with other aesthetics.
